

Log In | Customer Service | May 21, 2011

Chicagoans of the Year 2010

Our six honorees include an orthopedic surgeon, a crusading mom, a preservationist, a hockey baron, an educator, and a woman who helps recovering addicts

Like Linda Powless and 93 others like this.

EDITED BY GEOFFREY JOHNSON

Our six Chicagoans of the Year for 2010 share a praiseworthy trait with the 121 honorees who preceded them over the last 17 years. An educator, a sportsman, a preservationist, an orthopedic surgeon, a mother searching for a cure, and a woman offering shelter from the storm—they are all passionate about revitalizing some aspect of our city. At a January luncheon at the Four Seasons, sponsored in part by American Airlines, Chicago will celebrate the achievements of these extraordinary people and reward each of them with a $1,000 donation from the Chicago Tribune Foundation for the charity of their choice. Click the thumbnails below for more on each honoree.

SUBSCRIBE NOW

Digital Edition »
Print Edition »

Digital Edition »
Print Edition »

SUSAN AXELROD
Co-founder and president of CURE

GUNNY HARBOE
Preservation architect

DANIEL IVANKOVICH
Orthopedic surgeon

TIM KING
Founder and CEO of Urban Prep Academies

NELI VAZQUEZ-ROWLAND
President of A Safe Haven foundation

ROCKY WIRTZ
Owner of the Chicago Blackhawks

ADVERTISEMENT

EDITORS' PICKS

GENERAL | DINING | STYLE | GOING OUT

Laurie Schiller, the Most Successful College Coach You've Never Heard Of

New Pill Offers Alternative for Skin Cancer Care

Former Chicago Athletes: Where Are They Now?

50 Most Beautiful Chicagoans

Ikram Goldman: From Dressing Michelle Obama to Opening a New Store

More Articles »

This article appears in the January 2011 issue of Chicago Magazine.

Did you like what you read here? Subscribe to Chicago Magazine »

E-MAIL PRINT

Comments are moderated. We review them in an effort to remove offensive language, commercial

ADVERTISEMENT